The Ants
by Jacob Moretti

The ants got my lollipop !
Lollipop !
What can I do ?
Get some sugar,
of course.
Down the stairs,
Then the hall.
Out the door.
YES !!
YES !!

The Ants
by Jacob Moretti

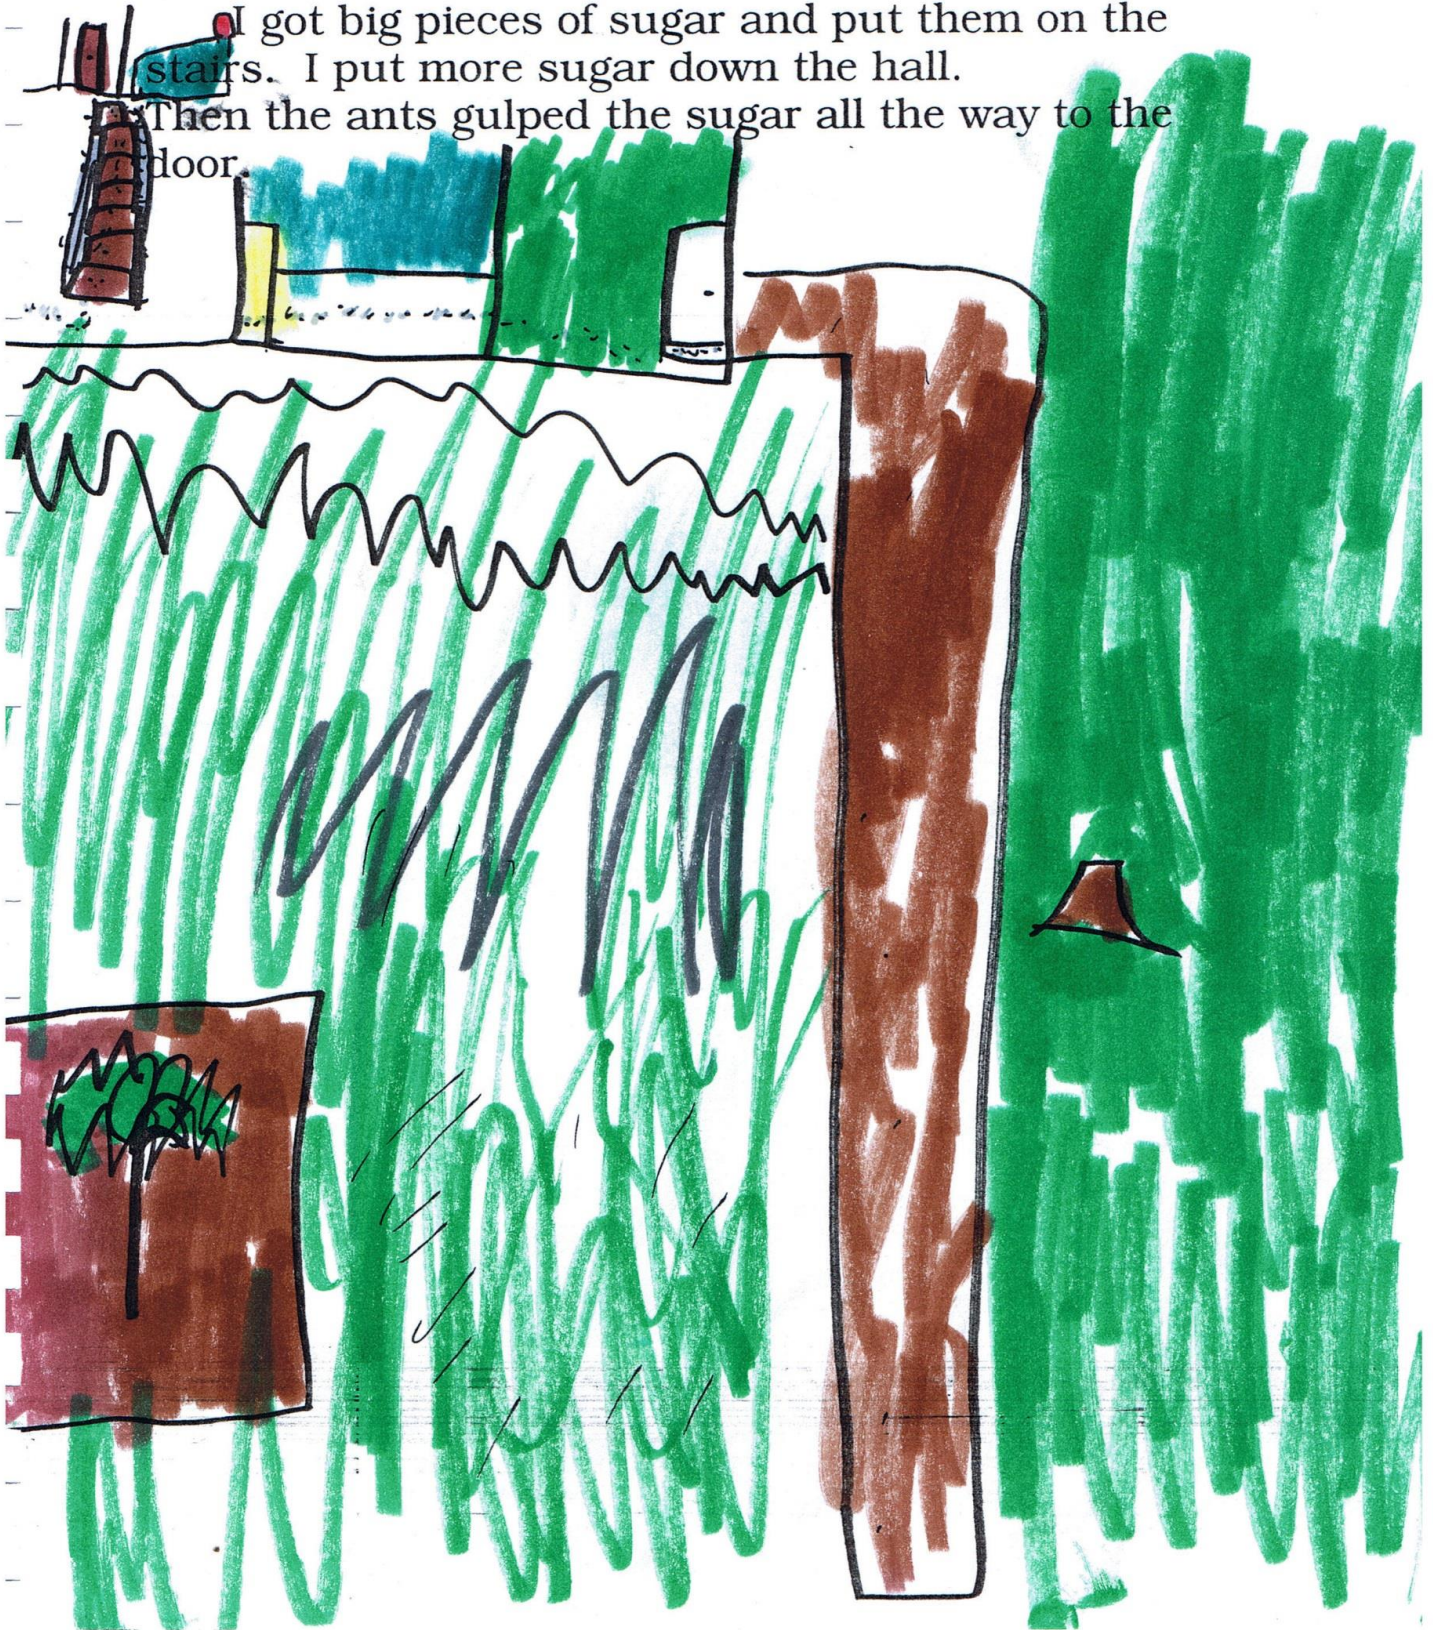

One night I had a super ant problem in my house. The ants grabbed my lollipop from the kitchen counter.

"I have to do something about those mean ants."
I said.

I got big pieces of sugar and put them on the stairs. I put more sugar down the hall.

Then the ants gulped the sugar all the way to the door.

"This is perfect !!" I said.
Then I put more sugar in their ant hole.
They marched out of the house.
I saved the house from those ants.
I felt great and my family said, "We love you."

Notes to the Author

Dear Jacob

What a fine story! And when it was all over, you were happy, the ants were happy, and the house was saved! That's cool! Well done!

I love you! Grandad

Dear Jacob

Congratulations on your book. I like the short form on the title page - like a poem! I like the story about Sols. 29 the problem and I like the pictures of the ants on the cover. And I like the author too. Love Nara
